

The Kalamazoo Flood Relief Fund was established with lead gifts by United Way of the Battle Creek and Kalamazoo Region, and the Kalamazoo Community Foundation. Fund dollars will go to local agencies working directly with individuals and families needing help in the wake of February's historic flooding in Kalamazoo. Representatives of United Way, Kalamazoo Community Foundation, City of Kalamazoo, Kalamazoo County, and the Local Initiatives Support Corporation (LISC) are responsible for funding decisions. High priority needs include clean-up kits and equipment, replacement of lost items, and hotel vouchers.
